

Credentialing and Privileging process

- A hospital's medical staff plays a critical role in assuring quality care and improving patients' outcomes in the hospital
- A good hospital should always have a clear structure of its medical staff, including departments, divisions, and medical committees.